New York, Nov. 23.—There was a tin sign today on the front door of the Franklin Syndicate headquarters at 141 Floyd street, Brooklyn, which read

"CLOSED ON SATURDAY."

Yesterday Miller disappeared at moon, having learned that the King's county grand jury had indicted him for conspiracy with the intend to defraud and that a bench warrant had been issued for his arrest. It was said that Miller came to the borough of Manhartan and escaped under the eyes of detectives. Some think that he is still in Manhattan. Others think that he has by this time left-Greater New, York far behind, either by a European steamer or by railroad-train.

of the Frankin Syndhute, who was arrested last night when the police aided the offices of the concern, was taken to court today and held in $1,000 bail to answer the charge of having aided his brother in defrauding creditors. $5,500 having been found by the police which they allege the prisoner concealed in the house adjoining the Franklin Syndicate offices.

All day a crowd of excited depositors held the fort at 144 Floyd street, which fort, however, was well guarded by police, some of whom had themselves been enriched by the interest of 19 per cent a week on earnings they had placed in Miller's hands for investment.

Floyd street was the scene of great excitement. The crost was made up largely of women. Some of them had remained throughout Friday, night, hoping that "the young Napoleon of finance" would return with his extraordinary dividends and pay them their interest or their principal. At midnight Friday, overcome by excitement and her losses, Mrs. A. M. Cheney, who is said to have lost the savings of a lifetime, dropped dead. Several women fainted and today the police have much difficulty in keeping back the surging mobs.

and municipal bonds. He has purchased a large number of these bonds.

The postoffice department at Washington, immediately on learning of Miller's indictment, issued orders that no more mail should be delivered to the Franklin syndicate, and that no further bestiness should be iransacted with it by the department.

Postoffice will reach an enormous amount. Postoffice inspectors have discovered that Miller deposited as high as $17.00 a day in one bank in the lower part of the city. The record of the money order department shows that Miller's business during the last six weeks has been growing by leaps and bounds. Every day he has eashed orders aggregating between $5.00 and 37.000, and one day the amount ran up to $13.000.

All Gloom Elsewhere.

From no other point can even a semblance of success be reported. Mafeting is apparently in worse plight than the Britishers have hitherto cared to admit, and it is difficult to see how it can be relieved for some time to come. While the official dispatch from the Boer head langer outside Ladysmith, duted Nov. 21, showed that the town was still flying the union jack on Friday, the cheerful tone of the message and the evident anticipation of the speedy reduction of Ledysmith is not calculated to cheer anxious relatives.

The reported silence of the British gains also again arouses fears of a shortness of aminunition, and the fact that the Boers have just placed in position another slegg cun shows that they have not yet done their worst.

The arrival of the German officers, some of whom, it is understood, gained large experience in reducing fortified to a change of factics which will add to the suspense of the sorely tried garrison.

the suspense of the sorely tried garrison.

The situation in the northern part of Cape Colony is about as unsatisfactory as it can be. Boers are turning up in all directions.

A Cape Town dispatch received at a late hour tonight reports that the enemy have blown up a railway bridge between Rosmead Junotion and Middieburg with the object of preventing an advance from Port Elizabeth. This was effected by a small commando which, it is stated, remains in the neighborhood. The effect of blowing up this bridge will tend to isolate Nauwpoort which was recently reoccupied by the British and must delay the advance of the troops just arrived at Port Elizabeth.

bears to have been the British objective was found to have been removed. The story is thus circumstantial. No official confirmation is yet forthcoming. An official statement was issued at Durban yesterday that there were no Boors south of the Mooi river. The Boers however, as shown in recent dispatches, are rapidly closing around the Mooi river canni. Another armored train and mounted patrol reconnsistered the country surrounding and report seeing none of the enemy, but today the Boers were in strong force in two directions nearly. This shows the extreme mobility of the Boer forces.

Two Boers have surrendered to the British at Nottingham Road station, south of the Mooi river, and there are reports that the Boer forces are starving, which explains their raiding farms.

Numbers of loyal Natal farmers have taken the field in response to the call for mobilization. The rife associations are now doing spiendid scouting work. Two of these volunteer patrols checked the Boers near Mool river. The government has realized the value of their services and yesterday authorized the raising of a mounted corps of farmers to check Boer raiding.

BOER MARKSMANSHIP BAD.

Otherwise the Loss to the British at Belmont Would Have Been Great.

Belmont Would Have Been Great.

New York, Nov. 25.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: The local papers publish further details of the battle of Belmont. They show that the behavior of the British infantry in charging strong positions held by the Beers was magnificent. In the face of a trememous fire, the British guards three times drove the Free States in flight from their kopies. The war correspondent of the Chronicle, however, says that the Beer markemanship was wretched, otherwise not a single guardsman out of the two battallons of Coldstreams who carried the position at the point of the bayonet could have lived ta reach the summit of the ridge.

The consecution has let in a fresh.

tion at the point of the bayonet could have lived to reach the summit of the ridge.

The censorship has let in a fresh series of Kaffir rumors respecting a great victory by the Ladysmith garrison on Sunday, but it has kept out definite information relating to the anamolous military situation in lower Natal. The rumors of victory come from many sources, but are untrustworthy and are discredited by an official report from General White via Durban, showing the situation at Ladysmith unchanged on Nov. 22 although based upon a strong inherent probability that a trained Indian fighter like General White, discovering that the lines of investment have been weakened by the withdrawal of a large force southward, would not remain idle, but would attack the enemy's positions without delay. This is what solders of the Indian school say that Lord Roberts would do under the same conditions, and they know that General White is a man of action, anxious to retrieve his record of having brought on a disastrous reverse by a factical error.

All the news from Ladysmith must be discredited, unless it comes by pigeon, when there are three missing links in the broken chain of communication with the coast. A fourth break has not yet been reported between the capital of Natal and the senboard. But at the worst Englishmen will be able to console themselves with the reflection that the Boers cannot go outside of Durban without plunging into the sea.

it is only in numbers and finances that England has any advantage over the Boers. The Boers are fighting at home. They are playing on home grounds, as it were. They know the topography of the country. They are acclimated. Everything is new to the queen's sol-diers.

'Then, again, the flies are destroying the horses and livestock and cattle that England is sending into the Transvani, which it is within the jurisdiction of men to control. All that I can say is men to control. All that I can say is that much depends upon the strategy and generalship of the heads of the two armies."

General Miles and party will leave tenight for Washington.

PICK OFF THE OFFICERS. Part of the Boar Soldiers Selected For This Purpose.

Orange River, Cape Colony, Friday, Nov. 21.—In all 107 wounded, including several Boers have arrived here from Belmont. One of the Boers, a boy 17 years of age, was compelled to take up arms—with his father, who is a prisoner. A wounded Boer said that twenty men were selected from each Boer section to pick off the British officers. But, he added, on the advance of the British force the marksmen were bewlidered and it was impossible to distinguish the officers who wore the same equipment as the men. The marksmen were also unably to make out the serveanis and other noncommissioned officers, whose stripes had been removed.

The scouts also reported another strong Boer force to the northwest of the camp. The British guns have returned to camp, and the infantry has fallen back. The mounted infantry is still out.

London, Nov. 25.—The reported deter-mination of the United States to commination of the United States to compel President Kruger to allow Consul General Macrum to exercise his rights as British agent at Pretoria has created an excellent impression here and has called out various expressions of satisfaction and gratitude. The Pall Mail Gazette rays:

"The United States government is not going to stand any nonsense from President Kruger. It was the British representative who kept an eye on Hobson's capitylty at Santingo and it was the British representative who did similar services for captured Americans everywhere in Cuba and the Philippines. ## BUILD SIDE TRACKS.

R. G. W. to Enlarge and Improve Its Ogden Yards.

The Rio Grande Western has begun a series of important improvements in Ogden, with a view to getting more yard room and of facilitating the handling of cars. Assistant Engineer Baxter of that road was in Ogden yesterday, and with a force of assistants was laying off a number of new sidetracks which are to be constructed at once. Superintendent Welby was present and outlined the work. The longest of these is to extend from down near the roundhouse cast neat the sns works to near the freight depot. The old coal chutes are to be moved back near the roundhouse and a number of short tracks and spurs are to be constructed, which will greatly facilitate switching as well as give the road more yard room.

The Corey Bros. company of Ogdenhas been given the contract for the grading work, and the work will be forthwith commenced.
